How to use

When a book or other object is inserted from the front side, the stopper rises, and the stoppers on both sides hold the inserted object so it will not fall over.

When a book is removed, the stopper lowers and the adjacent book does not fall over!

If you take just one book out of several...

Only the stopper at the point of removal is lowered and the adjacent book does not fall over, so the space of the removed book is retained and the place to return it is easy to find.

Connectable on both sides!

When multiple units are used, they can be neatly connected without separate parts.
